

Evaluation of the essay entitled:

The topic is of interest, within the scientific-cultural guidelines of the Journal: ___ (yes or not)

The article is original, or otherwise relevant: ___ (yes or not)

The article is characterized by solid and well-developed argumentation and discussion, independently from the fact that they can be shared or not: ___ (yes or not)

It offers a review of the literature, presents the historic development of concepts, takes into consideration various points of view, even when they are different from or in conflict with the author's, it is up to date with recent research: ___ (yes or not)

The paper is syntactically and grammatically sound, flowing, easily understandable and enjoyable to read: ___ (yes or not)

Short comment on the evaluation and/or possible suggested changes:

Consequently, the article examined is: _____

(Select one of the following options).

Publishable* (A)

Potentially publishable in a new version which takes into account the suggested modifications, but will nonetheless be resubmitted to the peer review procedure (B)

Not acceptable for publication (C).

* Even in the case of a type A judgement, the author will have to consider eventual criticism and modification proposals suggested by the reviewers and will make the editing modifications, as requested by either the reviewers or the Editorial Board.